Summary: A man that works for a fast food restaurant undergoes some traumatic events. Part of my Silent Crime series.

The Dick-Tater

I can't believe what my life has become. I work for a fast food restaurant called "Dick's Flabby Cocks". We sell fried chicken. I'm a sign twirler, and I have to dress as the restaurant's mascot, the Dick-Tater. The kids love it, but I hate it and am gay. It's hard swinging a sign outside in 90 degree weather and screaming "who want's a taste of my flabby cock" at little kids. The burden of my job was starting to get unbearable.

This one day, I was performing my whole spiel. When I said the motto, a man ripped off his pants and started vigorously pleasuring himself right in front of me. I asked him what he wanted and he handed me a Ramin Djawadi soundtrack. While I was distracted the man bent me over and had his way with me. It was a good thing that I was a closet homosexual. After he was finished, he said that I was handsome and he would like to pursue a relationship with me. I stabbed him in the throat and ripped out his sarcophagus lol I mean esophagus whatever.

Later I was being harassed by a bunch of middle aged men. They called me a faggot and I told them "It's not gay if you have gay buttsex". So I ran home and locked myself in my room. My wife who I was forced to marry came in and pleasured me forcefully because I was forcefully married I didn't really want her to but I mean hey I'm not complaining. Like if you were in high school and a girl came up to you and asked if she could slob your knob, you wouldn't say no. You'd say "no I'm abstinent" and then get totally f*cked in the ass.

So after I got totally f*cked in the ass my wife said she loved me. I kissed her. Good thing I just coated my lips in poison lol! She died shortly after. I noticed she had a boner. It turned out my wife was a man.

The police came to question me about all the disappearances. They asked me about my large cock no jk lol they asked me about my wife. I told them I killed her and then I jumped out a window to my death.

End
